INDEX.

A

Anjou, review of works relating to, 77—early history, 78—the Julian wars, 81—Constantine, 82—Charlemagne and his successors, 84 et seq.—the French Reformation, 97—future of the provinces, 101.

B

Bunsen, Baron, review of 'Memoirs' of, 469—his parentage and early life, 472—his life in Rome, 477—kindness of the King of Prussia to him, 478-9—quarrel with the Romish Church, 480—Bunsen in England, 482 et seq.—his political element, 497—his literary labours, 498—his honours and last years, 501.

C

China, Western, review of works relating to, 357—Province of Yunnan, 359—and of Szechuen, 365—robbers and rebels, 366—Thibet, Nepaul, and China, 370—the Dungens, 375—and their scene of action, 385—Sir John Lawrence's policy, 392-3—Russian views, 395.

Comte, Auguste, his Positive Philosophy, reviewed, 303.

D

Disraeli ministry, the, 559—retirement of Lord Derby, 559-60—his career, 562—Mr. Disraeli, 562—anecdote of him, 566—his acrimony, 567—his position, 567—leader of his party, 568—his political creed, 569—his legislative and administrative services, 571—his education of his party, 573—his letter on the Irish Church question, 574-5—mischief of his Irish policy, 576—his followers, 577—reasons why his ministry cannot last, 580.

E

Education, Liberal, in England, review of works relating to, 131—Mr. Farrar's volume of essays, 131—athletic sports, 140—classical education, 141—modern languages, 151—science, 152—music, 153—necessity for reform, 154—German education, 154—the competitive system, 156—university life, 158—Professor Seeley's views, 160.

Education, Technical and Scientific, 433—defective state of in England, 433, 459—in textile fabrics, 436—in machinery, 437—in hosiery, 439—Mr. Young, 440—Mr. Samuelson, 441—industrial and scientific schools in France, 443—steel works of Krupp, 453—Switzerland, 455—Austria, 456.

XUM

F

Fezensac, M. le Duc de, review of his 'Souvenirs Militaires,' 213—Napoleon's critics, 213—the Camp at Boulogne, 216—the French army, 219—the disaster at Ulm, 225—Austerlitz, 230—Jena, 232—Campaign in Poland, 234—Eylau, 235—the retreat from Moscow, 237—Marshal Ney, 237—Vandamme, 238—Leipsic, 242.

Francis, Sir Philip, review of the 'Memoirs' of, 166—his early life, 167—at the War Office, 171—Letters of 'Junius,' 173—his friends, 176—his pamphlets, 177—leaves the War Office, 179—his father's death, 180—his Indian appointment, 181—Mrs. Grand, 187—Indian affairs, 189—Francis's return to Europe, 192—enters Parliament, 193—his resentment against Warren Hastings, 193—his disappointments, 195—his private life, 197—his death and character, 198—was he Junius? 198.

G

Gachard, M., review of his Don Carlos et Philippe II., 1—Don Carlos's birth and parentage, 2—receives the oath of allegiance from the Cortes, 9—his accident, 9–11—quarrels between the father and son, 11—his personal appearance and conduct, 12—the Archduchess Anne of Austria, 15—Charles V. and his son, Philip II., contrasted, 16–17—troubles in the Low Countries, 19—murder of Montigny, 24—Don Carlos's violence, 25 et seq.—his endeavours to quit Spain, 28—his arrest and imprisonment, 32 et seq.—his death, 40.

I

Irish abroad, review of works relating to the, 502—the emigration movement, 504—the Irish in America, 506—their unpopularity there, 512—influence of American journals, 515—Fenianism, 516—causes which keep the Irish national characteristics unchanged, 518—disintegration of the Irish mass, 520—the Irish in Canada, 523—in Australia, 524—and in Great Britain, 525—Mr. Maguire's work, 530—the Land and Church questions in Ireland, 531.

L

Lewes's History of Philosophy, reviewed, 303.

M

Maguire, Irish abroad, reviewed, 502.

Malleson, Major G. B., review of his 'History of the French in India,' 537—first attempts of the French in India, 538—the French Company, 540—Dupleix, 542—Labourdonnais, 545—surrender of Madras, 547—his fall, 551–3—De Bussy, 554—Lally, 558.

Montalembert, Comte de, review of his 'Les Moines d'Occident,' 397—History of the Scottish Monks, 398—Columba, 406—Augustine's miracles, 420–21—the Easter controversy, 424—Mr. Burton's book, 426— self-sacrifice of monks and nuns, 431.

O

Oysters and oyster fisheries, 43—historical mention of oysters, 44—fondness of men for the oyster, 54—its organisation, 55—its embryological history, 56—its susceptibility to education, 57—its food, 58—its size at different periods of life, 58—its enemies, 59—oyster-culture, 63—greening of oysters, 64—the oyster season, 66—open and close seasons, 68 et seq.

P

Positive Philosophy of M. Auguste Comte, review of works relating to the, 303—Mr. Lewes's work, 303—notice of M. Comte, 307—publication of his great work, 315—his subsequent life, 316—Madame de Vaux, 317—his death, 319—consideration of Positivism, 319 et seq.

T

Two per cent., 242—the depression in England and France in 1867, 244—causes of this, 249—note-circulation in England and France, 250—the foreign stock market, 257—borrowing difficulties of railways, 258—strike of capital, 260—disorder following mercantile shipwrecks, 264—joint-stock companies, 265—bills, 268—corn and cotton, 272-3—imports and exports, 274.

Tyndall, John, review of his Lectures on Sound, 103—early discoveries, 104—Newton, 106—Helmholtz, 108—doctrine of the sensation of sound, 109—refraction of sound, 110—interference, 112—consonance and dissonance, 115—analogy between light and sound, 116—Chadnis' discoveries, 117—fundamental qualities of a sound, 120—alphabetic sounds, 123—the vocal organs, 125.

V

Victoria, Queen of England, review of her 'Highland Journal,' 281—royal visits to Scotland, 284—the Queen's first visit, 285—her purchase of Balmoral, 287—her visits to the poor, 291—religion of Prince Albert, 292—the Queen's visit to Ireland, 292—autumnal life of the Royal Family in the Highlands, 295.

THE END OF VOL. CXXVII.

LONDON: PRINTED BY
SPOTTISWOODE AND CO., NEW-STREET SQUARE
AND PARLIAMENT STREET

XUM